How to be an Entrepreneur

Step one: Learn to discern between
A good idea and a harebrained scheme.
Be inventive, create new things,
'Cause new inventions will get you paid real big.
Two: Keep your enemies next to you,
In your perspective and your view.
You better rebuke and criticize those foes
Who want to step. "Where?" All up on your toes.
Three: Don't get greedy like monopoly,
It could turn evil like an atrocity.
And don't work from time to time, sporadically,
That plan's got holes like a cavity.

Four: Be a voracious reader, read more books,
 No weirdo stuff, you'll get zero bucks.
 Five: Be a strong leader to exemplify,
 And show your people how to live their lives.
 Your enemies are the competition, so listen:
 Deploy your troops, get 'em in position.
 Six: You can eat Chex Mix, but don't mix checks, dude,
 Get someone to support and abet you.
 When you do math, be fastidious,
 Pay mad attention to math equations.
 Seven: Can't do it? "Nope." Not feasible?
 You can't fly to the moon in a station wagon.
 If you can't hear the TV you need some captions,
 Those words below, take it from your captain.
 Step eight: You must evolve and change,
 Like a chimpanzee to a human being.
 Step nine: I make rhymes, but I minimize the times it takes,
 Keep it small like a model's waist.
 Ten: Stack paper, but give some back
 To those who have less, they can live on that.
 Greed can be stinky like manure,
 This is how to be an entrepreneur...
